Introduction to Howard University

Since 1867, Howard has awarded more than 100,000 degrees in the professions, arts, sciences and humanities. Howard ranks among the highest producers of the nation's Black professionals in medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, engineering, nursing, architecture, religion, law, music, social work and education.

The University has long held a commitment to the study of disadvantaged persons in American society and throughout the world. The goal is the elimination of inequities related to race, color, social, economic and political circumstances. As the only truly comprehensive predominantly Black university, Howard is one of the major engineers of change in our society. Through its traditional and cutting-edge academic programs, the University seeks to improve the circumstances of all people in the search for peace and justice on earth.

Howard has grown from a single-frame building in 1867 and evolved to more than 89 acres, including the six-story, 400-bed Howard University Hospital. Since 1974, it has expanded to include a 22-acre School of Law West Campus, a 22-acre School of Divinity East Campus and another three-fifths of an acre facility in northeast Washington and a 108-acre tract of land in Beltsville, Maryland.

Howard prepares men and women to advance social justice and the preservation of human liberty. In each of its 13 schools and colleges, Howard University seeks to develop technically competent and morally committed individuals.

The University's library system contains more than 1.8 million volumes, including the Channing Pollock Collection. The Moorland-Spangarn Research Center (MSRC) is recognized as one of the world's largest and most comprehensive repositories for the documentation of the history and culture of people of African descent in Africa, the Americas and other parts of the world.

The University competes in 19 varsity sports including basketball, football, bowling, lacrosse, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, both indoor and outdoor track and volleyball. Regarded as one of the most prestigious institutions of higher learning in the world, current enrollment approximates 11,000 students from virtually every state, the District of Columbia, and more than 70 countries. The University traditionally has had the largest gathering of Black scholars in the world.

When you arrive to Howard's campus, you will be provided with a tour of our historical institution as well as receive supplemental information that will assist you in getting familiar with our university. In the meantime, you may visit:

<http://www.howard.edu/campustour/Default.htm> to take a virtual tour of campus.

This public transportation system provides accessibility throughout the metropolitan DC area (Washington, DC; Maryland; Virginia). Additionally, our location’s easy accessibility conveniently allows for fellows to navigate our city via taxi and Uber (a car request smartphone app). Fellows will receive a metro card, map, and orientation on how to utilize the public transportation system during program orientation.

RESNET LABS, INTERNET ACCESS, AND CELLULAR PHONE USE

ResNet Computer Labs, are located in the residence halls and provide state-of-the art equipment and network access, and can be used for research, preparing papers, and surfing the Internet.

IREX will provide all Fellows with a basic phone (not smartphone) that can be used for calling and texting within the United States, and an international calling card with a limited amount of minutes for you to call home. You will receive these when you arrive on campus. If you have an unlocked smartphone you may want to consider bringing it and using a local SIM card. All data charges in the U.S. will be at your own expense; we encourage you to use Wi-Fi whenever it is available.

COOKING POLICIES

As previously mentioned, rooms do not have a kitchen/cooking amenity, however, there is a community room in each building which has cooking abilities. However, you will be provided with meal vouchers to ensure that you have more than enough meals throughout the program!

Regulations regarding electrical appliances in bedrooms are established to protect the health and safety of all residents. They are also required by the Safety Code of the District of Columbia, and the University's insurance contracts, for the protection of its properties. Hot plates, electric fryers, large refrigerators, small ovens, microwave ovens and any other cooking appliances are strictly prohibited in students' rooms. Fellows may have a small refrigerator not to exceed 3.5 cubic feet, and an electric iron. The iron must be used only in the laundry room area provided in each hall. Ironing on beds and dressers is prohibited and can result in the termination of your housing agreement. Please note that these items will not be provided by the Mandela Washington Fellowship Program; however, previous cohorts of MWF have donated a few items for your usage. Additionally, as previously indicated, these items will be available for purchase at one of the local area shopping centers. As a reminder, we will incorporate opportunities for shopping at the beginning of the program for personal effects. Please be advised that candles and incense are prohibited on campus.

CO-EDUCATIONAL VISITATION

Visitation guidelines must be adhered to very strictly. Guests must be properly signed in and out of the building and must be escorted by the resident at all times. Residents will be held responsible for their guests' actions during their visit in their respective residence hall.

RESIDENCE HALL SECURITY

With the exception of Mays Hall (Graduate Housing), each residence hall has 24-hour front desk coverage, live-in community directors, resident and graduate assistants. The Howard University Police Department patrols the campus and security officers are stationed in the residence halls. Each fellow is cautioned against careless actions and tampering with the locking devices on all residence hall doors, any other points of entry, and any safety equipment. Residents are also required to keep their keys and/or their access cards with them at all times, and are prohibited from lending keys/access cards or duplicating them. The University is not responsible to anyone for loss of personal property in any building or on any part of the campus, whether the loss occurs by theft, fire, or otherwise. All fellows are encouraged to purchase an insurance policy for personal belongings.

Meals

You will be given a meal card in your welcome packet at check in. This card has an allocated amount of money on it for use in campus dining facilities.

Breakfast, lunch, and dinner are normally eaten in one of the campus dining facilities. Some meals will be at other locations as a group, or catered for special functions. We will off-set these options with some cash for purchase of foods at the local grocery for cooking in the residence hall.

We will work with fellows observing Ramadan to identify the best approach to meet your dietary needs.

More information on dining facilities and meal plans will be covered in Orientation.

Weather

According to www.weather.com average temperatures in Washington DC are as follows:

June

Average high temperature: 84 (29 degrees Celsius)

Average low temperature: 62 (17 degrees Celsius)

Rainfall: 3.63

July

Average high temperature: 89 (32 degrees Celsius)

Average low temperature: 67 (19 degrees Celsius)

Rainfall: 4.21

Although the average is listed as 32C, please note that July is our warmest month of the year, with temperatures sometimes reaching 38C. As such, it will be important for you to dress accordingly. While you may experience heat walking to and from facilities, many sites we will visit may have air conditioning making it cool. As such, we recommend dressing in layers, always keeping a sweater or shawl handy to use as needed.

Dress

It is the expectation that as fellows you will be a stellar representation of yourselves, the Mandela Washington Fellowship Program, and Howard University. As such, we ask that during scheduled programmatic events, you wear business casual dress.

Examples of business casual include: slacks, khaki pants, button down shirts, (tie and blazer optional), dress, blouse, skirt, and pants.

There will be some events in which you may want to be more formal, so we recommend at least 1-2 business outfits (ie. suits) and 1-2 formal attire for receptions/dinners. We welcome you to wear traditional dress as well.

Please be advised that there is an approximately 10 minute walk from your residence hall to our meeting location on campus. As such, comfortable shoes are strongly suggested.

Schedule

The six week Public Management Institute will be packed full of engaging content. A complete schedule and syllabus will be provided closer to your arrival. As you prepare, however, it may be useful to understand the basic framework for the Institute and the flow of weekly content.

You will spend your initial days on campus in a comprehensive orientation. We will get to know one another, set expectations around living and learning together, work on group dynamics and team building, as well as provide initial engagement opportunities with the campus and community you will call home for six weeks. After these initial days, we move into a fairly regular routine will traditionally consist of lectures in the mornings, a break for lunch, and an afternoon site visit to local area organizations. We will be incorporating weekly service-learning opportunities with community partner organizations, peer collaborated events to promote networking capabilities, as well as organized cultural and extra-curricular activities.
