About Howard University

Established in 1867, Howard University is a federally chartered private, doctoral university, with an enrollment of approximately 10,000 students. Undergraduate, graduate, professional and joint degree programs span more than 120 areas of study with 13 schools and colleges. To date, Howard has awarded more than 120,000 degrees in the arts, sciences, and humanities.

Howard is a leader in STEM fields. The National Science Foundation has ranked Howard as the top producer of African-American undergraduates who later earn science and engineering doctoral degrees. The University also produces more minority doctoral graduates in computer science than any other university in the nation, and boasts nationally ranked programs in social work, business, and communication sciences and disorders.

The University’s motto Veritas et Utilitas, Truth and Service, represents a key part of our identity. The more than 10,000 undergraduate and graduate students dedicate hundreds of hours each year to service in the District of Columbia, around the nation, and far-flung places around the world.
Charter Day Celebration!

We celebrate the March 2, 1867 approval of the University Charter by President Andrew Johnson of an institution dedicated to the betterment of humanity.

We are grateful for Howardites - collectively and individually - who, through individual example and support of alma mater, exhibit the very spirit that has marked Howard as one of the great successes in American education.

The 2020 Charter Day Dinner continues a tradition of honoring the founding of Howard University through a University-wide celebration.

The annual gala, which also serves as Howard's premiere fundraising event, is one of the most important activities on the University's annual calendar.

This year, the proceeds from the dinner will directly address the need that exists in financial aid for Howard students. Your financial support of the University, and in particular this event, is greatly appreciated and will aid us in ensuring that more deserving students can achieve their dreams of obtaining a Howard degree.

We hope that you will join us at the 2020 Charter Day Dinner.
